Bio:

I attended UCLA and received my undergraduate degree in Anthropology in 1998. Consecutively, I attended USC School of Dentistry and received my Doctorate in 2002. USC's rigorous clinical program afforded me the ability to become a business owner one year after practicing as an associate. In 2003, I purchased my first dental practice in Thousand Oaks, CA. A few years later, I purchased my second practice in Oxnard, CA. In 2010, I began my continuing education at the Kois Center in Seattle, and quickly graduated and became a mentor in 2013. I am also one of the members of the Kois Activity Committee, which is a members liaison group for new graduates. Last year, I successfully completed the exam for fellowship at the AGD, and I'm hopeful to one day become accredited with the AACD. I enjoy the business aspects of owning a practice, which is why I'm actively a part of and will continue to grow the LEAD (Ladies Entrepreneurial Affiliations in Dentistry) Group. I hope I can be of service to the AACD by joining the Nominating and Leadership Development Committee. Thank you.
