

Sarah Slone, DMD, AACD

I live and work in Lexington, KY where I've practiced 14 years. My zest for learning never stops and this is one of my favorite things about dentistry and my time with AACD. I attended my first AACD 4 days after graduating dental school in New Orleans. I've consistently attended Scientific Sessions and had the pleasure of practicing alongside other fellowed and accredited members.

I have served on the executive board for the Lexington Cancer Foundation for the past 3 years.

Outside dentistry, I most enjoy fun times and travel with my two children (ages 8 and 10) and my husband, Ben Carter.
